The Committee on the Status of Graduate Students in the Profession brings important student issues to the attention of the Modern Language Association’s governing bodies and provides resources to assist graduate students’ entry into the profession.

Our Web page contains resources that address the questions and issues graduate students frequently have.

We also foster venues at the annual MLA convention specifically for graduate students, including a welcome session, panels about the job market and other issues, and a lounge. Look for them in the PMLA convention program or on our Web site.
